1. Nature and Continuance of Operations

The Company was incorporated under the British Columbia Company Act on April 24, 2003. The Company is an exploration stage company and engaged principally in the acquisition and exploration of resource properties. The recovery of the Company's investment in its resource properties is dependent upon the discovery, development and sale of mineral products and the ability to raise sufficient capital to finance this activity. The ultimate outcome of this activity cannot presently be determined because they are contingent on future matters.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

a) Basis of Consolidation

These interim consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company, the 50% interest in the joint venture with Uranium One Inc. (“Uranium One”), the 50% interest in the joint venture with Triex Minerals Corporation (“Triex), and the 37.5% interest in the joint venture with JCU (Canada) Exploration Company, Limited. (“JCU”).

b) Use of Estimates

The preparation of consolidated financial statements in conformity with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amount of assets and liabilities and the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amount of revenues and expenses during the period. Actual results could differ from these estimates.

c) Resource Properties and Deferred Exploration Expenditures

The Company is in the process of exploring its mineral properties and has not yet determined whether these properties contain ore reserves that are economically recoverable.

Mineral exploration costs are capitalized on an individual project basis until such time as an economic ore body is defined or the project is abandoned. Costs for a producing deposit are amortized on a unit-of-production method based on the estimated life of the ore reserves, while costs for the projects abandoned are written-off. As of March 31, 2008, $202,373 mineral property costs were written-off.

The recoverability of the amount capitalized for the undeveloped mineral properties is dependent upon the determination of economically recoverable ore reserves, confirmation of the Company's interest in the underlying mineral claims, the ability to farm out its resource properties, the ability to obtain the necessary financing to complete their development and future profitable production or proceeds from the disposition thereof.

Title to mineral properties may involve inherent risks due to the difficulties of determining the validity of claims. The Company has investigated title to all of its mineral properties and, to the best of its knowledge, titles to all of its properties are in good standing.

The Company conducts certain of its mineral exploration activity through joint ventures and accounts for these activities by the proportionate consolidation method under which the Company’s proportionate share of the joint ventures assets and liabilities are included in the Company’s account.

2. Significant Accounting Policies - Continued

d) Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents are highly liquid investments, such as term deposits with major financial institutions, having a maturity of 12 months or less at acquisition, that are readily convertible to contracted amounts of cash.

e) Environmental Expenditures and Assets Retirement Obligations

The operations of the Company have been, and may in the future, be affected from time to time in varying degree by changes in environmental regulations, including those for future reclamation and site restoration costs. Both the likelihood of new regulations and their overall effect upon the Company vary greatly and are not predictable. The Company's policy is to meet or, if possible, surpass standards set by relevant legislation, by application of technically proven and economically feasible measures.

Environmental expenditures that relate to ongoing environmental and reclamation programs are charged against earnings as incurred or capitalized and amortized depending on their future economic benefits. Estimated future reclamation and site restoration costs, when the ultimate liability is reasonably determinable, are charged against earnings over the estimated remaining life of the related business operation, net of expected recoveries.

f) Amortization

The Company provides for amortization on its fixed assets on a declining balance basis (one-half of the rate is taken in the year of acquisition).

Following are the amortization rates:

Computer equipment	30%
Office furniture	20%
Exploration equipment	30%
Computer software	100%

g) Income Taxes

The Company accounts for the future tax consequences of the differences in the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities and their tax bases using tax rates expected to apply when these temporary differences are settled. When the future realization of income tax assets does not meet the test of being more likely than not to occur, a valuation allowance in the amount of the potential future benefit is taken and no net assets are recognized. The Company has taken a valuation allowance against all potential tax assets.

h) Share Capital

i) The proceeds from the exercise of stock options, warrants and escrow shares are recorded as share capital in the amount for which the option, warrant or escrow share enabled the holder to purchase a share in the Company.

ii) Share capital issued for non-monetary consideration is recorded at an amount based on fair market value.

2. Significant Accounting Policies - Continued

i) Flow-through Shares

The Company may issue securities referred to as flow-through shares, whereby the investor may claim the tax deductions arising from the expenditure of the proceeds. When resource expenditures are renounced to the investors and the Company has reasonable assurance that the expenditures will be completed, a future income tax liability is recognized and share capital is reduced. Previously unrecognized tax assets may then offset this liability, which amount would then be included in income. During March 31, 2008, the Company recognized $925,124 (December 31, 2007: $1,237,280) as a reduction of share capital and corresponding future income tax liability pursuant to the renunciations made in early 2008.

j) Stock-based Compensation

The Company has a stock option plan as disclosed in Note 7. The Company has adopted the fair value method for stock-based compensation granted to employees, non-employees and for all direct awards of stock. The fair value of stock options is determined by the Black-Scholes Option Pricing Model with assumptions for risk-free interest rates, dividend yields, volatility factors of the expected market price of the Company's common shares and expected life of the options. The fair value of direct awards of stock is determined by the quoted market price of the Company's stock.

k) Earnings (Loss) per Share

Basic earnings (loss) per share is computed by dividing income (loss) available to common shareholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the period. The computation of diluted earnings per share assumes the conversion, exercise or contingent issuance of securities only when such conversion, exercise or issuance would have a dilutive effect on earnings per share. The dilutive effect of convertible securities is reflected in diluted earnings per share by application of the "if converted" method. The dilutive effect of outstanding options and warrants and their equivalents is reflected in diluted earnings per share by application of the treasury stock method.

l) New Accounting Policies

Effective January 1, 2007, the Company adopted the new recommendations of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants (CICA) Handbook Section 1530, Comprehensive Income; Section 3251, Equity; Section 3855, Financial Instruments - Recognition and Measurement; and Section 3865, Hedges, retroactively without restatement. These new Handbook Sections, which apply to fiscal years beginning on or after October 1, 2006, provide requirements for the recognition and measurement of financial instruments and on the use of hedge accounting. Section 1530 establishes standards for reporting and presenting comprehensive income, which is defined as the change in equity from transactions and other events from non-owner sources. Other comprehensive income refers to items recognized in comprehensive income that are excluded from net income calculated in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Under the new standards, policies followed for periods prior to the effective date generally are not reversed and therefore, the comparative figures have not been restated. The adoption of these Handbook Sections had no impact on opening balance.

l) New Accounting Policies - Continued

Under Section 3855, financial instruments must be classified into one of the following five categories: held-for-trading, held-to-maturity, loans and receivables, available-for-sale financial assets or other financial liabilities. All financial instruments, including derivatives, are measured in the balance sheet at fair value except for loans and receivables, held-to-maturity investments and other financial liabilities which are measured at amortized cost. Subsequent measurement and changes in fair value will depend on their initial classification, as follows: held-for-trading financial assets are measured at fair value and changes in fair value are recognized in net income; available-for-sale financial instruments are measured at fair value with changes in fair value recorded in other comprehensive income until the investment is derecognized or impaired at which time the amounts would be recorded in net income.

Upon adoption of these new standards, the Company designated its cash and cash equivalents as held-for-trading, which are measured at fair value. Accounts receivable and income taxes receivable are classified as loans and receivables, which are measured at amortized cost. Accounts payable, accrued liabilities, due to/from related parties and joint venture partners are classified as other financial liabilities. The Company had neither available-for-sale, nor held-to-maturity instruments during the first quarter ended March 31, 2008.

The Company had no "other comprehensive income or loss" transactions during the first quarter ended March 31, 2008 and no opening or closing balances for accumulated other comprehensive income or loss.

Changes in accounting policies

On January 1, 2008, the Company adopted the following provisions of the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants (“CICA”) Handbook Sections. There was no material impact on the Company’s financial condition or operating results as a result of the adoption of these new standards:

(a) Section 1400 – General Standards of Financial Statement Presentation, to include requirements for management to assess and disclose an entity’s ability to continue as a going concern (see Note 1).

(b) Section 3862 – Financial Instruments – Disclosures, which replaces Section 3861 and provides expanded disclosure requirements that provide additional detail by financial asset and liability categories (see Note 11).

(c) Section 3863 – Financial Instruments – Presentation, to enhance financial statement users’ understanding of the significance of financial instruments to an entity’s financial position, performance and cash flows (see Note 11).

(d) Section 1535 – Capital Disclosures, which establishes standards for disclosing information about an entity's capital and how it is managed (see Note 12). Under this standard, the Company will be required to disclose the following:

- qualitative information about its objectives, policies and processes for managing capital;
- summary quantitative data about what it manages as capital;
- whether during the period it complied with any externally imposed capital requirement to which it is subject; and
- when the Company has not complied with such externally imposed capital requirements, the consequences of such non-compliance.

a. Athabasca Basin Properties, Saskatchewan - Uranium One Joint Venture

In January 2007, the Company and Uranium One, a TSX listed company, entered into a 50:50 joint venture to explore five Athabasca Basin properties. Uranium One now holds the remaining 50% interest in the Darby, Waterfound, Moon Lake and Lynx Lake properties and 37.5%, or 50% of the Company's 75% interest, in the Candle property. JCU (Canada) Exploration Company, Limited. ("JCU"). owns the remaining 25% of the Candle property. The Company is the operator of these five joint venture properties.

In order to exercise its 50% option and to earn a 50% interest, Uranium One made total cash payments of $350,000 (the last payment of $87,500 was made on January 11, 2007), issued an aggregate of 200,000 common shares and 300,000 share purchase warrants, and funded $4,000,000 of aggregate exploration expenditures on the five Athabasca Basin properties. In accordance with CICA 3055, Investments in Joint Ventures, the Company recognized its 50% interest in the joint venture at $4,000,000, equivalent to the $4,000,000 spent by Uranium One (Note 5).

As of March 31, 2008, the Company's 50% portion of exploration expenditures on these five properties totalled $6,895,661 (December 31, 2007: $6,207,210). This total includes the deemed value of the properties.

Darby Property
In 2003, the Company acquired from the President of the Company mineral claims totalling approximately 11,015 hectares in the Close Lake area of the Athabasca Basin, Saskatchewan by issuing 1,166,657 (4,666,628 after stock split) common shares at a deemed pre-split price of $0.04 per share. In 2004 and 2005, the Company acquired additional 2,383 and 3,323 hectare claims in the same area by way of staking.

Candle Property

Stock-based Compensation

The Company recognizes compensation expense for all stock options granted using the fair value based method of accounting. Total fair value of stock options vested during the three months ended March 31, 2008 was $765,963 (2007: $803,680).

The following weighted average assumptions were used for the Black-Scholes method of valuation of stock options granted during the periods:

	2008	2007
Risk-free interest	2.93 - 4.50%	3.83 – 4.50%
Expected dividend yield	-	-
Expected stock price volatility	78 - 94%	78 – 94%
Expected option life in years	1- 4	1- 4

Option pricing models require the input of highly subjective assumptions including expected stock price volatility. Changes in the subjective input assumptions can materially affect the fair value estimate and therefore the existing models do not necessarily provide a reliable single measure of the fair value of the Company's stock options.

11. Financial instruments

The fair values of the Company's cash and cash equivalents, short-term investments and interest receivable, GST receivable, prepaid expenses and deposits and accounts payable and accrued liabilities approximate their carrying values.

The Company's financial instruments are exposed to certain financial risks, including currency risk, credit risk, liquidity risk, and interest risk.

(a) Currency risk

The Company's property interests in Africa make it subject to foreign currency fluctuations and inflationary pressures which may adversely affect the Company's financial position, results of operations and cash flows. The Company is affected by changes in exchange rates between the Canadian Dollar and foreign functional currencies. The Company does not invest in foreign currency contracts to mitigate the risks.

11. Financial instruments – Continued

(b) Credit risk

The Company's cash and short-term investments are held in large Canadian financial institutions. Short-term investments are composed of financial instruments issued by Canadian banks. These investments mature at various dates over the current operation period. The Company does not have any asset-backed commercial paper in its short-term investments. The Company's GST receivable consists primarily of goods and services tax due from the federal government of Canada.

(c) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will not be able to meet its financial obligations as they fall due. The Company manages liquidity risk through the management of its capital structure.

Accounts payable and accrued liabilities are due within the current operating period.

(d) Interest rate risk

Interest rate risk is the risk that the fair value or future cash flows of a financial instrument will fluctuate because of changes in market interest rates. The risk that the Company will realize a loss as a result of a decline in the fair value of the short-term investments is limited because these investments, although available for sale, are withdrawn with interest as needed.

12. Management of capital risk

The Company manages its cash and cash equivalents, common shares, stock options and warrants as capital (see Note 7). The Company's objectives when managing capital are to safeguard the Company's ability to continue as a going concern in order to pursue the exploration of its mineral properties and to maintain a flexible capital structure which optimizes the costs of capital at an acceptable risk.

The Company manages the capital structure and makes adjustments to it in light of changes in economic conditions and the risk characteristics of the underlying assets. To maintain or adjust the capital structure, the Company may attempt to issue new shares, issue new debt, acquire or dispose of assets or adjust the amount of cash and cash equivalents.

In order to facilitate the management of its capital requirements, the Company prepares annual expenditure budgets that are updated as necessary depending on various factors, including successful capital deployment and general industry conditions. The annual and updated budgets are approved by the Board of Directors.

In order to maximize ongoing exploration efforts, the Company does not pay out dividends. The Company's investment policy is to invest its short-term excess cash in highly liquid short-term interest-bearing investments with maturities 365 days or less from the original date of acquisition, selected with regards to the expected timing of expenditures from continuing operations.

The Company expects its current capital resources to be sufficient to carry its exploration plans and operations through its current operating period.
